Credicorp Flex report: working capital for a second branch

By CM Beyer Research Office - Industry research editor - Updated 11 July 2026

Research reference: how a revolving facility can sit alongside fit-out and opening costs for a new branch.

This .org record is kept for citation and due diligence. It records the product or cash-flow question, the public sources checked, and the boundary between research and customer service.

A new branch often has launch costs before its trading pattern is proven. A director should separate timing pressure from a weaker margin before choosing any finance route.

Keep the fit-out budget separate from working capital. Mixing them hides the true cost of opening. Recheck the linked product and public-source pages before relying on the note.

Applications, account servicing and binding customer documents remain on credicorp.co.uk. This page is a source trail, not a sales page.
